GENERAL EXPLANATIONS ABOUT ASTROLOGICAL INTERPRETATION

Astrology can enlighten our behavior and clarify correlations in life. However, it can't and shouldn't pin a person down. An astrological birth picture consists of symbols that have been translated into words and concrete examples in the following text. For the sake of clarity, some examples have been exaggerated.

What astrology has to say can be explained by using examples. You have different aspects of your personality like your will, feelings, rational mind, etc. Imagine these to be actors who are staging the play of "life" together. Astrology describes the actors, their qualities and weaknesses, and their relationships with each other. But astrology has little to say about the play that is being acted. You decide this with your free will.

Experienced actors to whom you can constantly give new stage directions are necessary for a good play. The more you know the needs of your actors, the more you can bring them together into a harmonious and unified "play" and let them express themselves on your life's stage. The following pages will be a guide for doing this.

When reading them, you will discover contradictions. For example: one section describes the need for a calm and stable relationship, and another section says that you need stimulation and variety within a relationship. Such a contradiction contains the demanding challenge to express both opposites.

The following text is not a "fortune-telling horoscope" because you alone are the architect of your own destiny. The horoscope describes the "raw material" that you have available.

APPEARANCE

The Ascendent symbolizes the "display window" or the "mask" of your personality, which means the qualities that you primarily exhibit to the outside world and other people initially perceive in you. It indicates an area with which you are familiar on the one hand, but challenges you throughout your lifetime to intensively develop your personality on the other hand.

Ascendent in Capricorn

Serious and Responsible Appearance

With the Ascendent in Capricorn, you make a responsible and serious impression. You advocate order and stability, accept hierarchies, and are perhaps an authority yourself. People consider you to be someone who takes life seriously, striving for goals in a disciplined and responsible manner. Life challenges you time and again to not only show single-mindedness, a sense of reality, and loyalty to principles and authority as a "mask" to the outside world but also to let these attributes become your inner qualities. By taking on a responsible role, clarity and purposefulness will increasingly become a part of your character.

The Ascendent is like a pair of glasses through which you can perceive the surrounding world with a special hue. You see life from a serious perspective. You need structure and a goal. It may be that in this process you overlook a ray of sunshine, a butterfly, or a friendly word. By thinking that you are acting according to law and justice, you may limit your own personal freedom and that of others. If you take an unbiased look at your behavior, you will find many incidents in which you try to force yourself and others into fixed patterns and smother lively, spontaneous expression. The great challenge that life presents you with is creating as many structures and rules as necessary for a solid basis. However, do not try to create order and regiment things when your motivation for this is the fear of liveliness, emotional depth, or closeness.

ESSENTIAL NATURE AND WILL

Just as the Sun is the central star of the solar system in astronomical terms, it also symbolizes the essential nature of a human being in astrology. Its position in the birth picture tells us something about our ego-consciousness, about our will and the way in which we shape our lives.

Sun in Libra

The Path in Life as a Stylish Work of Art

In your innermost being, you strive for justice, harmony, and peace. Your tactful and affable manner lets you be popular with many people. Getting rid of conflicts is one of your concerns. In doing so, you can develop considerable diplomatic abilities if you face the conflict and don't simply conform for the sake of peace. You are good at approaching other people. At the same time, you always emphasize what you have in common and what connects you with them. You often pay too little attention to the differences. In your endeavor to have the other person like you, you shy away from clearly expressing your own opinion and conform too frequently. You have a hard time making decisions. If you say "yes" to one possibility, you must reject the other. And you have difficulty in general when it comes to saying "no."

Relationships belong to your path in life since you can primarily get to know yourself through another person. If you talk about your concepts of goals, wishes, and problems with someone else, this brings you more clarity than thinking about things for a long time on your own. It's not that the other person tells you what you should do, but you sense your own will better through the exchange. The other person becomes a mirror in which you recognize yourself.

You are an esthete. A world without beauty is unimaginable for you, and you would like to shape your life into a work of art. For example, you place value on stylishly furnished surroundings and often tastefully create them for yourself. You detest everything dark and instinctual as much as you dislike conflict situations. And this is the stumbling block for those born under the sign of Libra. Beauty and balance take up so much space in your concept of life that this can cause you to become superficial. You tend to close your eyes to suffering, war, depression, illness, and other "unpleasant things." In terms of images, Libra symbolizes a race that is high-bred, noble, but not necessarily capable of bearing strain and being fit for reality.

Sun in the Ninth House

Striving for Higher Things

You would like to meaningfully apply the qualities described above and thereby expand your own horizon. Forming opinions, issues concerning philosophy and education, and foreign cultures, as well as the exchange with people who think differently and are important to you, as is the possibility of convincing others of your opinions.

When you go a level deeper and ask why new people, ideologies, and views fascinate you so much, you will discover that you are ultimately searching for something that you can believe in, something that in a certain sense draws you into the spiritual heights away from earthly entanglements. This search for your own truth motivates you over and over again, yet it also conceals the danger of forgetting life in the here and now because of all the philosophies, visions of the future, and ideologies.

Sun/Jupiter in a Harmonious Aspect

Approaches to Idealism

You possess initiative and optimism. Your open and tolerant attitude makes many things in life easier for you. In a generous and uncomplicated way, you always do the right thing. You have a holistic perspective of a situation and virtually see the direction in which things are heading. Apart from your tendency of overestimating your abilities, your decisions will probably be right most of the time. You want to identify with something larger than yourself. The company, the nation, or an ideology are some examples of what your idealistic concepts may be related to.

Your need for a pleasant and generous lifestyle can let you become a master of the art of living who keeps restrictive working conditions at arm's length. If another aspect of your being tends toward discipline and responsibility, the need for a generous lifestyle may also cause you to create the foundation for material affluence through work.

Sun/Saturn in a Harmonious Aspect

Shaping Life Realistically

You see a certain earnestness in life and strive to assume responsibility for it. For you, structure and discipline are means with which you achieve long-term objectives. You hardly live for the moment but have plans of how you want to design your life. Your willingness to exert yourself to this end and, if necessary, work hard, can help you achieve your goals in your profession and let you become an authority. When problems arise, it's only very natural for you to face them squarely. The work that you have accomplished brings you much satisfaction.

Your thorough and purposeful way of tackling life lets you appear reliable and self-confident. Others trust you and entrust you with responsibility, which you also gladly assume. In the process, you tend to pursue a path that is conventional and concerned with security.

FEELINGS AND TEMPERAMENT

The Moon symbolizes the emotional, childlike/passive, and receptive principle. It stands for the needy part of us that would like to live according to its feelings and spontaneously reacts according to desire or reluctance. In this part of our personality, we are sensitive and impressionable, perceive moods, and need a sense of security and warmth. We can imagine this part to be like a small child within us. If it gets what it needs, we feel good and lively. However, we often have to go through periods of stagnation and discontentment before we recognize and satisfy its needs.

The Moon embodies the feminine principle and also stands for the aspect within us that, full of caring willingness, would like to be a "mother" in the broadest sense of the word. It wants to look after others and create a sense of security.

Moon in Leo

With a Natural Warmth and Flair for Dramatic Gestures

You have a generous, optimistic nature and a great deal of enthusiasm. You want to spontaneously express your feelings, are direct and sincere, and straightforward in saying what you think. At the same time, you may step on other people's toes with your spontaneity.

Your powers of imagination are quite lively. You see every external situation as part of a greater context and react accordingly with dramatic gestures. With your natural warmth, you can be very winning. Since you value attention, you tend to sometimes place yourself too much at the center of attention. You like to be on the sunny side of life and want to miss out on as little of it as possible. You don't like to be reminded of old age, illness, and suffering. It may be that you are a master at covering up your true feelings in certain situations so that your fellow human beings - and perhaps even yourself - don't notice anything of your sadness.

Your unconditional "yes" to life and to yourself gives you a sense of self-assurance. On the other hand, this may also let you be too uncritical toward yourself. Can you accept a well-meant reprimand without feeling this to be a personal insult? If you can learn to also accept yourself as a human being with faults, you will be able to dispense with many of the theatrical gestures that used to be important to you. Your natural sincerity and warmth can then develop without restraint and give you a great deal of joy in life and peace of mind.

Moon in the Seventh House

The Need for Closeness and Tenderness

You have a great need for being together and feel more holistic when you are in a relationship. Your mediating manner should make it easy for you to establish contacts. You strive to adapt and emphasize what you have in common with others and what connects you with them. If you respond too much to other people, you will have difficulty in feeling your own needs. The others may be so much at the focus of your attention that you lose yourself in the process. This is why it's important for you to ask yourself about your own wishes and needs time and again.

You would like to find and create a sense of security within a partnership, yet you tend to live out your moods when together with the other person. Perhaps you unconsciously want to be a child again and have the partner replace the mother for you - or vice versa. Such tendencies can be a considerable strain on the relationship if they aren't made conscious and talked about. On the other hand, your great willingness to get involved in the partnership with all your feelings also creates a great deal of closeness. Giving and taking loving strokes in a balanced ratio is very important to you.

Moon/Mercury in a Harmonious Aspect

Thinking and Feeling in Harmony

You have a natural talent for perceiving, understanding, and expressing your feelings and needs. The impression you make on others is lively, realistic, and versatile, and you possess a healthy common sense. Lifeless matter doesn't interest you much. You prefer to learn through experience instead of studying books. Instead of being a strict logical thinker, you tend to be more of a lively story-teller. You feel good when you are around people, and you quickly find contact everywhere. You react on the basis of the present moment and also can cope easily with an unfamiliar situation.

Moon/Pluto in Conjunction

Deep Feelings Aren't Always Pleasant

Your emotional life is profound and passionate. However, you presumably show little of it. You tend to act controlled so that others don't see your turbulent and vulnerable side. As a result, others consider you to be withdrawn and react with reserve, which in turn poses the question for you as to whether people like you at all. This creates a cycle of mutual mistrust and control. Perhaps you demand that your partner constantly reaffirm his or her love for you. Or you control your own feelings and only show little of them. You presumably want much closeness and intensity, yet at the same time shy away from it. You want to completely bind the people you love. This can lead to a jealous attitude toward your partner or to difficulties when your children leave home. This is a matter of letting go of other people and getting involved in the here and now on the emotional level without control and conditions in order to attain your own depth of feeling.

You have an enormous potential of emotional depth and inner strength, an ability to understand life, yourself, and other people on a deeper emotional level. In order to live this out in the most positive form, it's necessary to pull down the inner barriers step by step.

COMMUNICATION AND THOUGHT

Mercury symbolizes the area of our personality related to thinking, information, and communication. The position of Mercury in a birth picture throws light on a person's way of thinking, preferred interests, and learning methods, as well as language and rhetorical abilities.

Mercury in Libra

Interested in Balance

You are a diplomat and don't like openly confronting another person in a conversation. With tact and intuitive understanding, practically in a veiled manner, you attempt to tell someone else your opinion. When you are involved in a conversation with someone, you emphasize what you have in common; you prefer to disregard differences. As a result, you show one aspect of your personality to one person and a completely different side of yourself to someone else. In the process, the border between a charming response to others and insincerity can become completely blurred.

Your mind is clear and flexible. It's easy for you to understand other people's ideas. You are open for new things and have a diversity of interests. Art, culture, or intellectual activities are indispensable for you. Whether you read, study, conduct a conversation, or think about things, you need a quiet and harmonious atmosphere. You appreciate the beauty of language and thought. Swearing holds little appeal for you. Making decisions isn't one of your strong points. You see both sides of things so much that it's hard for you to identify with one and exclude the other.

Mercury in the Ninth House

Interest in Spiritual Growth

You want what you think and communicate to have meaning and help you progress spiritually. You examine opinions and ideologies, and you like to philosophize with others about the meaning of life. Contacts with people who open up new horizons are almost as necessary for you as your daily bread. You are open for new things, and probably have an alert interest in strange cultures and religions. Time and again, you try to form a clear opinion and also express it. In the process, there is often a thin line between your healthy power of persuasion and a know-it-all attitude.

You want to share your thoughts and your knowledge. With your intellectual and verbal abilities, you would like to inspire and convince others. Because of this, you are probably capable of working as a teacher, educator, or salesperson.

RELATIONSHIPS AND ESTHETICS

When Venus sparkles in the sky as the morning or evening star, it is an expression of harmony and beauty in terms of reality and as an astrological symbol. It stands for the need to be balanced and have things in common, for the striving to build bridges. It is a distinctly feminine and erotic principle and corresponds to the aspect within us that longs for a partner, seeks and creates relationships, and can be open for and enjoy all the beauty in life. The Venus in us chooses what is appropriate and agreeable for us from the diversity of people and things.

Venus in Virgo

Beauty Can Also Be Useful

You need solid ground beneath your feet in a relationship. You tend to express love and affection in a rather inconspicuous manner. Falling in love head over heels doesn't correspond to your taste; you prefer a methodical and sensible approach. Before you enter into a new partnership, you wait for a while, think about the situation, and carefully consider the pros and cons. In addition to reliability, faithfulness, physical closeness, and sensuality, the practical and sensible aspect is important to you. There should be a harmonious balance between giving and taking. Otherwise, you easily feel taken advantage of and can then react to your partner with criticism and pettiness.

Beauty is closely associated with practical considerations for you. Beautiful things that are only there to please the eye easily cause you to question whether they are worth spending the money on them. Beautiful things should also fulfill a purpose. On the other hand, you have certain esthetic standards for the articles of daily use, creating both a practical and beautiful environment for yourself as a result.

Venus in the Eighth House

Partnership Demands Intensity

You don't have much interest in a superficial relationship. You want to have passion and sexuality and also live it out. When you enter into a partnership, you demand total devotion from your partner; one could almost say that you want to possess him or her. You have a sharp eye for what is concealed and hidden in a partnership. You want to probe your partner's dark sides. If your partner has a past that you don't know about, you will hardly leave him or her alone until you know everything. As a result, the relationship will become intense and passionate; it may happen over and over again that one of you hurts the other person. However, particularly this aspect gives your partnership the quality that you need and seek.

Beauty also has something mysterious and dark to it for you. For example, you may be fascinated by Egyptian culture, an artist like Salvador Dali, or a spider web with dew drops.

ACTIONS AND ASSERTION

Mars symbolizes masculinity and physical strength, as well as the capacity to take action and be assertive. It represents the part of our personality that is active in the outer world and wants to cause things to happen, that makes decisions and simply does things without asking, and that doesn't shy away from conflicts or confrontations. If something doesn't suit us, this is the part within us that defends itself and, if necessary, reacts with aggression and anger.

Mars in Gemini

With Tactical Skill

Above all, you assert yourself by using words. Communication is a means for you to cause things to happen; it could almost be called a weapon in your case. You mentally develop battle plans and use them to purposefully assert yourself in conversations. You appreciate lively discussions and can also argue when you get annoyed.

Your way of taking action and working also demonstrates tactical skill and a wealth of ideas. You are open for new things and impartially weigh one possibility against the other. If the facts don't speak clearly for or against a possibility, you have a hard time making the decision. Some things remain up in the air. But when you take action, you usually do this objectively, sensibly, and flexibly. Your way of taking action has something light and cultivated about it, and it orients itself toward the given circumstances. When overdone, this constant reorientation can show nervous or flighty traits.

Mars in the Sixth House

The Need to Take Action Related To Reality and Everyday Life

You are vigorous and have a capacity to act that proves itself primarily in everyday life. When it comes to everyday problems, you want to take action in a consistent and methodical manner. If something gets in your way, you can become quite annoyed. According to the motto of "little strokes fell big oaks," you can not only master everyday life in untiring detail work but also achieve bigger goals.

You generally take action for the sake of the matter at hand and not as much for recognition. The joy of success and in mastering concrete difficulties is presumably greater than your striving for recognition and praise. The question as to the benefit of an activity also stands in the foreground for you. If it serves mastering everyday life and existence in the broadest sense, you are willing to intensely commit yourself.

With great probability, the type of man who fascinates you personifies many of these qualities. This means that you like practical, realistic, and sensible men with whom you can master everyday life and accomplish a job. A love relationship that also enables you to work as a team should particularly appeal to you.

Mars/Jupiter in a Harmonious Aspect

An Optimistic Attitude Guarantees a Successful Outcome

Your actions are coupled with your inner optimism. You are convinced that what you are doing also leads to success. This healthy self-confidence is the best precondition for a successful outcome. On the other hand, it may also lead you to no longer seeing your own limitations. Then you can become quite excessive in your activities.

Your way of taking action has an enthusiastic aspect to it. It's important to you that your activities have a meaning and take place within a larger context. You are capable of doing something with total enthusiasm, and you also can and want to inspire others with it. Once you get going, you can hardly be stopped. You have something like the vitality of a cowboy who freely rides through life, says what he wants to say, and is completely himself. You do the right thing at the proper moment. With your healthy ego, you push through what you feel to be meaningful.

Mars/Saturn in Conjunction

The Impulse to Take Action and the Sense of Responsibility

When you do something, you want to do it correctly. You expect the same from others as well. You are thorough, purposeful, tenacious, and capable of hard work. You need structure and responsibility. If necessary, you can make sure there is discipline and order. In any case, you have the potential for this and can achieve a great deal in terms of your profession. You probably have a clear idea of what society expects from you, what people should" do, and you exert yourself for this purpose.

It can't be denied that you have a certain amount of ambition. You want to be an authority, strive for a professional career, a social position, or an athletic achievement; you work hard and purposefully in this direction. When you meet with difficulties, this is hardly because of insufficient efforts but rather because you force yourself or others too unyieldingly in one direction. You need clear goals to work for, but you shouldn't close your eyes to what is happening to the left and right of your path. If necessary, you must correct the direction you have set out in.

The combination of taking action and assuming responsibility is also reflected in your choice of a partner. You are attracted to men who behave with authority, are willing to put an enormous effort into their work and achievements, and are anchored in reality with both feet firmly on the ground.

THE SEARCH FOR MEANING AND GROWTH

Jupiter symbolizes the optimist in us, the part that wants meaning and expansion and sometimes gets out of control. It lets us look out for something higher and rise above the banalities of everyday life. It symbolizes the part in us that creates a relationship between things. It fills sober reality with a meaning by apportioning significance to each thing and imparting symbolic content to situations, words, and deeds.

Jupiter in the Seventh House

Partnership Stimulates Growth

Ever since early childhood, you have been able to experience how relationships strengthen your sense of self-confidence and have a positive effect on your life. As a result, you have developed an ability of making the "right" friends and of entering into relationships that help you progress in an inner or outer manner. You prefer to be generous and optimistic in a partnership. You would like to design every relationship in an open and life-affirming manner. With your ability to be enthusiastic, you convince your partner. For example, you plan a trip to a foreign country with your partner, tell him all of the advantages, and don't give one single thought to the disadvantages. So you talk him into it - and perhaps yourself as well - with much enthusiasm and inspiration.

You like having your partner support you since this makes it possible for you to show yourself as generous and optimistic. You bring a substantial urge for expansion into a relationship, which isn't always compatible with the social concepts of partnership and marriage. You tend to look at partnership from the light side and show little willingness to work on mutual problems together. Toward your partner, you tend to be generous and tolerant and leave him quite a bit of freedom; you can also forgive his errors. Basically, you see the positive sides in others.

Jupiter/Saturn in a Harmonious Aspect

Ideals and Reality

It's no problem for you to combine your life philosophy with everyday life. You have the ability of turning your ideas and visions into reality step by step. Or - seen from another perspective - your ideals are realistic enough to let themselves be turned into reality. You find a healthy happy medium between the urge for expansion and caution and between immoderation and denial. By applying your energies in a purposeful way, you can achieve a great deal.

In addition, you are a good mediator between the past and the future. You have the gift of connecting things tried and true with new ideas and thereby pointing the way for the future. In relation to society, you possess a healthy sense of self-worth and can make your contribution to constructive coexistence as a valuable member.

THE SEARCH FOR STRUCTURE AND ORDER

Saturn symbolizes the raised index finger within us, the inner authority with which we set ourselves boundaries and demand structure and responsibility from ourselves. The Saturn aspect within us is often very rigid, and then we block ourselves. However, if we have learned during the course of the years to reduce our fears and our standards of perfection, we will primarily experience Saturn as inner stability and security. In both the concrete and figurative sense, it symbolizes our backbone.

Saturn in the Sixth House

The Demands of a Perfect Everyday Life

Are you often concerned about not being adequate in everyday life and the area of work? You do a great deal toward a smooth daily life and want to take care of every detail in a perfect way? You usually look for activities that can't be done easily and quickly. In addition, you have a tendency of taking on too much and placing excessive demands on yourself. For example, you work all day without drinking enough or allowing yourself a break. Only in the evening do you possibly notice that your body is no match for this type of exertion. In the extreme case, you only stop to give yourself the rest that you urgently need when you become sick.

Basically, your task is to assume responsibility for your existence, which means for your daily life, your body, and your health. This doesn't mean that you have to be perfect. Perhaps you can also bring yourself to delegate certain tasks and therefore reduce the pressure and demands on your own performance. The more relaxed your approach to your daily work, the more your specialized abilities and talents of organizing and reliably completing your work will be demonstrated. Once you have freed yourself from the rigid corset of the demands for perfection, this talent will give you stability and a sense of security in your professional and private life.

THE NEED FOR CHANGE

Uranus symbolizes the "wind spirit" within us that strives for psychological growth through constant change. It stirs up an inner unrest that drives us to set out time and again, that lets us seek variety and new experiences, and that keeps us from psychological and physical stagnation. It represents the wanderer within us who does not settle down for long anywhere. When something has barely become a habit, he tears down his tents and surprises us with new ideas. His originality knows no limits, and the same applies to his noncommittal nature.

Uranus in the Fifth House

The Joy of Experimenting

You seek possibilities for expression that do not correspond with the norm. Do you like to play-act? You take pleasure in transforming yourself. You enjoy repeatedly showing yourself in a different setup. You are creative and have the urge to show yourself off. This does not necessarily have to be on a concrete theater stage. However, you like to display your individual qualities on the stage of life.

You have a streak of adventurer's blood in your veins and can decide to do something crazy out of the blue.

If consideration of social norms does not hold you back, you are not opposed to a love affair. Even your idea of dealing with children and young people will hardly correspond with the usual norm. You have your own ideas of how to raise children. This joy of experimenting provides you with many experiences and perceptions, bringing you closer to your own nature.

Uranus/Pluto in a Harmonious Aspect

The Dream of the Ideal World

You tend to not go into life completely but live a type of "higher concept" of it. Deep within you, you long for a state of being supported within a greater whole and somehow avoid becoming totally involved in this earthly existence. When you accept that you can never completely turn your high ideals and premonitions of a better world into reality, it will be possible for you to integrate some of this into your everyday life. You have - together with many other people your age - the less than simple task of giving expression to this vision.

THE LONGING FOR LIBERATION AND DEVOTION

Neptune symbolizes our mystical side that continually dissolves the boundaries between our ego-consciousness and the outside world, reminding us that we are part of a greater whole. This part lets us feel the longing for another world. It can equally be the motivation for reconnecting with something divine, for total devotion and a readiness to help, or for retreating from life and losing ourselves, which ultimately results in self-pity and chaos.

Neptune in the Eighth House

The Desire for Total Merging

It is difficult for you to correctly assess social values and power structures. If you deal with borrowed money or other values that have been entrusted to you, you may easily consider this to be common property. It may possibly run through your hands.

A part of you would like to let go and open up to something profound and uncontrollable. As a result, sexuality presumably means being swallowed up in a greater whole. The desire for total merging, and for sexual and spiritual ecstasy, can motivate you to get involved in Tantra, debauchery, or chaste abstinence. You may be equally inclined to seek total devotion in religion or meditation and tend to have passionate or even fanatical traits. Death is also surrounded by a mystical aura and may appear both enticing and frightening to you. You are very open to everything dark. One could almost say that you have a need to dive into the swamp of the emotions. This may mean that you have much compassion for the fringe groups of society such as the disabled, criminals, or addicts.

THE "DARK" SIDE

Pluto symbolizes the most radical, energized, and passionate aspect of our personality that, especially because it is so bent on "all or nothing," also triggers fear. So we often feel this side of ourselves to be "dark" and inwardly turn away from it. Then we suppress this intensive part with somewhat the same effect as pressing a lid onto a pot with boiling water: We burn our fingers. We can only find an access to its power and liveliness when we accept this uncompromising and intensive part of ourselves and learn to deal with it. Then this aspect in particular can develop an enormous energy potential and lead us through and beyond profound crises.

Pluto in the Seventh House

Relationships with Passion

"All or nothing!" is your motto in relationships. Your partner wants to have you completely - or you want him or her completely - with body, mind, and soul. Your relationships are intense and passionate. This probably also includes the fear of being deserted and the attempt to control and manipulate the relationship and the partner. A love relationship without power games, without testing each other's strength, without passion, and without jealousy is like a soup without salt for you. You tend to look for partners who will agree to this type of intensity.

You may be afraid of your own depth of feeling and the irrevocability and uncompromising attitude that you express toward someone you love. Then you move into a passive role and allow your partner to have power over you in a certain sense. You assume a type of victim attitude, and the relationship can become difficult at this point.
